FIGHT OPENED BY ADMINISTRATION TO LENGTHEN TRAINING

Wants Over 1,000,000 Draftees and Nat'l Guardsmen To Remain in Service

WARNED OF DEFEAT

Two Major Compromise Proposals Are Discussed by Opposition

By William S. Neal
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS)—The Administration today began its fight for legislation to keep more than 1,000,000 draftees and National Guardsmen in service over a year despite a warning that it may suffer defeat in Congress.

The blunt warning that the House may reject the proposal was given to President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson by Speaker Sam Rayburn and Democratic leader McCormack.

At the same time, members of Congress said that the recommendation to remove legal restrictions prohibiting dispatch of draftees and Guardsmen to lands outside the Western Hemisphere has been dropped, temporarily at least.

Two major compromise proposals to the legislation which was recommended by Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, were discussed by some Administration members of Congress who are opposed to keeping draftees in service for more than their year's training.

One compromise move proposes raising the limit of the Regular Army to 800,000 to 1,000,000 men while the other calls for keeping Guardsmen in service, but allowing draftees to remain only on a voluntary basis.

Administration supporters of the bill themselves hinted at a compromise plan under which the Army would be directed to release all draftees with family responsibilities.

Democratic Senate Leader Barkley, unlike the House leaders, voiced belief that Congress and the country will favor retaining the Army of 1,400,000 men as a unit when they learn the facts.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee will open hearings Thursday on the proposed legislation with Gen. Marshall as the first witness, Sen. Reynolds (D), N. C., chairman, said. He originally had planned to start hearings Wednesday.

Reynolds, who introduced the Administration bill in the Senate, indicated, however, that he will fight the proposal despite the plea made by Gen. Marshall at a White House conference yesterday.

"Unless I can be shown a good reason for changing my mind, I am against it," Reynolds said.

Apprehend Emdio Ciccanti; Escaped From Norristown

A Bristol inmate of the State Hospital for Mental Cases at Norristown escaped from that institution again yesterday and this morning was taken into custody at his home here. Emdio Ciccanti, 22, New Brook street, was apprehended at his home early this morning by Officer John Sackville, of the Bristol police.

On July 8th Ciccanti gave Officer Sackville a battle when he attempted to arrest him. Ciccanti on that occasion escaped through a rear door at his parents home and fled from the officers. Sackville later caught up with Ciccanti on Pond street and while putting the fugitive in the police car, the prisoner struck the officer a hard blow on the face.

Ciccanti, after being lodged in the police cell, set fire to his clothing but this was discovered in time to prevent him from being burned. He was taken back to Norristown the following day by guards from the institution.

Yesterday the Bristol police received a message from Norristown that Ciccanti had escaped from the institution and requesting the Bristol officers to be on watch for him here at Bristol. This morning the man's family advised the police that Ciccanti was here.

Ciccanti went very peacefully with Officer Sackville today.

WANTS PROPERTIES TO BE GRADED PROPERLY

Perkasie Council Will Withhold Responsibility of Improvement and Upkeep

TO IMPROVE STREETS

PERKASIE, July 15—Borough Council of Perkasie has advised those residents petitioning for opening of streets here, that property owners must properly grade their areas before council will assume any responsibility of improvement and maintenance.

This, states the councilmanic body, was the practice established years ago, and such policy will be adhered to. Building activity here is reflected in the petitions received by the councilmen, in which it was requested that formal opening and improvement of new streets take place.

The streets proposed for improvement are Oak avenue, between Arthur avenue and Fifth street; Elm avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets; and an extension of Dill avenue, in the Third Ward.

During the past year several new dwellings were erected on Arthur avenue, near the proposed Oak avenue, and now under construction in that area are three dwellings. Property owners desire the Oak avenue development in order to provide a short cut from Arthur avenue, to Fifth street, the main highway through the borough to Sellersville. The Elm street improvement was requested by the Order of Owls, whose home is located on Elm street, near Sixth. The large addition to the Home is now under construction. Several home building projects on Dill avenue prompted the petition from that sector.

NURSES ARE ASKED TO REGISTER WITH POLICE

Graduate and Practical Nurses, and First-Aid Workers, to List Their Names

EMERGENCY MEASURE

A list of all graduate nurses, practical nurses and first-aid workers in this area is to be compiled by the Bristol Borough Police Department. The list is to be kept on file at police headquarters so that in cases of emergency the aid and assistance of trained or practical nurses or first-aid workers could be obtained without any delay.

Linford J. Jones, chief of police, said today that forms were being prepared and that he requested all graduate nurses, practical nurses and first-aid workers in this area to visit the police headquarters and register.

"If an emergency should arise and the services of a number of graduate nurses, practical nurses and first-aid workers were needed quickly, time would be lost in contacting such individuals," said Chief Jones.

In the form which is being prepared the individual gives his or her name, address, telephone number, states if he or she is a graduate nurse, practical nurse or first-aid worker. Then information as to where the individual is employed is asked and whether he or she has means of transportation.

Those registering are asked to volunteer their services in cases of emergency.

Such a list is considered very valuable in police work and Chief Jones personally appeals to such persons to voluntarily register at the earliest possible time.

Registrations may be made at the Bristol Police headquarters in the Municipal Building from 2 to 3 and from seven to eight p. m., beginning tomorrow.

COUNCIL VOTES TO HAVE HOLLOW CREEK WELL CLEANED OUT

Approves WPA Project To Clean Water Course From Silver Lake to River

POND STREET DRAINAGE

Councilmen Discuss Surface Drainage on Pond St. and How to Remedy It

Borough Council last night approved a WPA project to clean Adams Hollow Creek from the Silver Lake Dam to the Delaware River. Council also discussed piping Adams Hollow Creek through the limits of the Borough. John S. Roberts, Jr., Borough Engineer, gave a rough estimate of the cost of such a pipe-line which he said he believed would approximate $15 to $20 a lineal foot and that the distance would be about 3000 feet or the approximate total cost would be about $60,000.

During the discussion of piping the creek councilmen also mentioned drainage conditions along certain sections of Pond street. Councilman Galzerano suggested the piping of Adams Hollow Creek and Councilmen Clark and Conklin spoke on the drainage conditions on Pond street between Jefferson avenue and Adams Hollow Creek and in the vicinity of Walnut street.

Engineer Roberts informed council that the storm sewers carrying the water from the area near Walnut street, met in a bottleneck near Mill street and the canal. He gave it as his opinion that a 30-inch storm sewer should be laid down the canal to aid one of equal size which is beneath the bed of the canal.

The monthly meeting of Council was called to order by William J. Lefferts, secretary, who stated that Dr. J. Fred Wagner, president, would not be present. He asked that a president pro tem be selected. William H. H. Fine was named to preside over the meeting.

Police committee reported 31 arrests during the month and the cases disposed of as follows: Fined, 18; discharged, 4; held for court, 5; committed to the county prison, 4. Forty-one lodgers were given shelter and one door was found unlocked. One and 12 incandescent lights were reported out. Fourteen were fined for parking violations and four were discharged. The patrol car answered 84 radio alarms.

The sewing project reported the distribution of 603 garments during June.

Councilman Clark stated that he had received complaints that people were having considerable difficulty in crossing Radcliffe street due to the auto-

REDUCE TO LIVE LONG

Among the ancient sacred writings, the counsel is to be found that when a man reaches the age when he is within five years of his father's age of death, he too should prepare to die. This advice shows the ancients' appreciation that length of life is largely dependent on heredity.

But the modern counsel on this score is not to prepare to die at the age father did, but rather to attempt to outlive him. For it is now known that, though heredity largely determines one's life span, wise use of biologic resources can lengthen a man's stay on earth—and what is even more important—make it pleasurable and productive.

To outlive our fathers, we must "husband our strength," as early as we attain to the necessary wisdom, and certainly when we are past 40. But how is one to husband one's strength? The formula is simple.

Foremost, inspect your girth and your diet and adjust the second to the first. Rid yourself of all surplus weight. To carry about a load of fat is to shorten one's years for certain. To be rid of the fat, all that is required in the vast majority of cases is to reduce the caloric intake. This does not imply "going hungry" or eating little. The bulk of a meal bears no direct relation to its caloric content.

Exercise and adequate rest are two items of great significance to anyone past 40. Good forms of exercise are walking and gardening. Eight hours rest every night, two hours relaxation during the day and a thorough physical examination once every year are highly advisable.

COURTESY AND SAFETY

It is not necessary to venture far afield to find one of the answers to the vexing problem of safety in the city streets. It is no esoteric, abstruse element to be discovered only by a miracle. It is simple, old-fashioned, common courtesy.

The courteous driver, by the very fact of his courtesy, is the safe driver. The courteous driver does not look upon his automobile as a tank of war, owning the road, riding roughshod over the world, expecting all men to scatter or be ground to bits. On the contrary, he respects the right of others to their share of the public highway. Nor does the courteous motorist regard his car as a racing vehicle, which subjects its driver and the persons in other autos to all the hazards of a speedway.

The courteous driver may be an urgent and serious and pressing business and may be in a hurry, but he realizes that thousands of others also are on important missions. That realization urges him to give others a chance on the streets. In doing so, he minimizes the danger of crashes. The courteous driver is the safe driver.

But how inject the rudiments of courtesy (safety) into those who have it not, who have emerged from the formative period of their childhood without having learned the elementary formula of courtesy, a man's recognition of the rights of others? That, indeed, is a problem for the psychologists and the educators.

An author says "cuspidor" has a musical sound. The sound is "Ping!"

There's many a step wasted in the kitchen when the refrigerator is not located conveniently.
Homemakers today take for granted the refrigerator in the kitchen. But to get their money's worth in food protection, they must manage the refrigerator correctly.

The first step in refrigerator management is to locate the refrigerator conveniently, with a work table near to hold food as it is taken out and put in the refrigerator. It possible have it near the sink for ease in the preparation of food.

Plan to make as few trips as possible to the refrigerator because every time the door is opened the freezing unit must chill the warm air that rushes in.

Another important part of managing the refrigerator, is the arrangement of food on the shelves. Storing food hither-miss and overcrowding the shelves increases the cost of operation. Arrange the food on the shelves so that the cold air can circulate through the box. It takes ice or energy to cool every single thing that goes into the refrigerator. Consider this when se-

Three Ways To Make Fried Chicken

By Katharine Fisher

Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

The fried-chicken season is here! The supply of fryers—fresh and quick-frozen—is usually at its best at this time of the year. So get out your skillet, and treat your family to some good fried chicken. Follow any of these recipes, and you'll have the family loudly clamoring for more.

Pan-Fried Chicken

With Flour or Corn-Meal Coating:

1. Buy fryers (1½ to 2½ lbs. each) split lengthwise, quartered, or cut up as for fricassee. Roasting chickens may be pan-fried if first simmered tender after cutting up.
2. Heat enough fat or oil in skillet or chicken fryer to make a ½" to ¾" layer. Use 2 skillets to save time.
3. Clean but do not dry the chicken. Coat by shaking in a paper bag with 1 c. flour (or ½ c. flour and ½ c. corn meal) mixed with 1 tsp. salt.
4. Place a few pieces at a time in hot fat, and brown on all sides. Reduce heat; cover or not as preferred, and fry 35 to 40 min. longer, or until tender. (2 to 4 tsp. water or cream may be added to chicken after browning if desired.)
5. As the pieces are fried, keep hot in a covered double boiler, in a bowl set over hot water, or in a covered casserole or roasting pan in a warm oven.

WITH EGG AND CRUMB COATING:

1. To 1 c. sifted, dried bread crumbs or cracker crumbs, add 1 tsp. salt. Beat 1 egg with 2 tsp. cold water.
2. Dip chicken in crumbs, then in egg, then in crumbs, and fry as above. Flour may be substituted for bread or cracker crumbs.

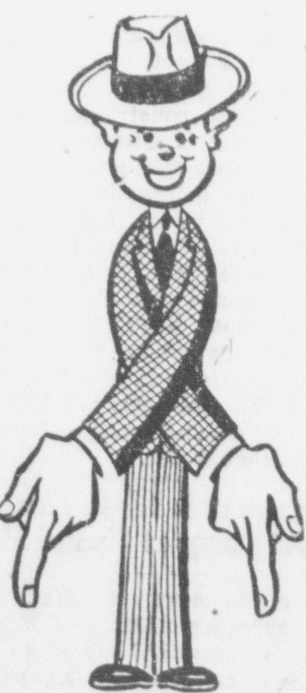

Oven-Fried Chicken

Here's a method that is especially convenient when several chickens are to be fried, since it cuts down on the turning and watching necessary when chicken is fried in a skillet.

1. Coat, and fry cut-up chicken in a skillet to a golden brown on all sides, as we do in Pan-Fried Chicken.
2. Then transfer the chicken to a covered casserole or roaster; cover, and complete the cooking in moderate oven of 350° F. for 1 hr., or until the chicken is deliciously tender.
3. Serve with or without Cream Gravy, as desired.

Deep-Fried Chicken

1. Dip cut-up fryers in egg and crumbs (see Pan-Fried Chicken) or in following batter: Stir 1 beaten egg and ¾ c. milk into 1 c. sifted all-purpose flour with 1½ tsp. salt and ½ tsp. pepper.
2. Fry a few pieces at a time in deep fat or oil heated to 375° F., or hot enough to brown a cube of day-old bread in 1 min. Keep the fat at 350° F., and fry until tender—about 20 to 30 min.
3. Or simmer cut-up chicken until just tender. Then skin; coat with eggs and crumbs (see Pan-Fried Chicken) and deep fry at 375° F. until golden brown—about 3 min.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—When summer comes complexion hues change with the season and nothing is more attractive than a golden suntan. A girl who has changed from white to bronze should make the most of her opportunity to look dramatic in colors that blend or contrast with her new complexion.

Hollywood's blondes, brunettes and redheads find that white takes on an entirely new cast, and caste too, when worn next to a darkened skin. Yellow is also a favorite shade, and because the season is supposed to be lighter-hearted and gay, it may be combined with a color that wouldn't do at all in the sombre winter time. Jane Wyman, as our blonde model, spends an hour in the morning and in the afternoon, deepening her natural ivory toned skin. As we write it's at the old ivory stage. So Jane is accentuating it with a ming yellow linen dress trimmed in coral, or to be more explicit, moon yellow with sunset coral. The skirt is gathered on to a natural waistline and carries a back pocket slashed diagonally into the fabric and accented with four stripes of coral linen. The same design encircles the high neckline and short sleeves.

Merle Oberon is another girl who makes the most of her suntan, which is much darker than Jane's because her skin is naturally darker. She effects either dead white or vivid blue all through the summer. Also a beige to match her skin. Among the wonder-ful new white clothes in Merle's wardrobe is a full length evening coat of lamb with detachable capelet top that may also be worn as a little wrap for day or eve.

Some of the girls are going without powder, letting their noses shine, because an even tan is very effective if left powder free with only lipstick and a bit of eye makeup. Brenda Marshall likes the effect; as does red-haired Julie Bishop, whose face has a girlish pin-tan that she accentuates with light pink frocks or contrasts with light blue. Sometimes Julie combines pink and blue, not in a sissy alliance, but in a very dramatic one. Her cocktail suit of blue rough-surfaced crepe is without revers or blouse, the jacket buttoned low to reveal an open neckline. Then accenting long, tight sleeves are daring gauntlet cuffs reaching to the elbows, of cotton lace lined a fragile petal pink.

Building Associations

Without giving their names, here are examples of some wise investors in Bristol:

One man, working in a Bristol mill, received a raise of $10.00 per month. He told the Association Secretary that if he did not do something to save this money it would be spent every month and he would not know where it went. He took ten more shares of Building Association stock.

Another man earning good money, already had 20 shares of stock. But he still had a good surplus left each month after paying his household bills. He decided to use the surplus in Building Association shares rather than accumulate a lot of cash. He took a lot of new shares.

A man had shares in one of these Associations. He also had shares in Associations in another city. He built a fine new house. He lost most of the shares he had in the other city. He paid for the house with the maturity of the shares in the Association at Bristol.

BLACK SETS DOWN ODD FELLOWS IN AN EASY FASHION

Veteran Hurler Takes His Arm Out of Camphor and Finds It in Good Shape

FINAL SCORE IS 15 TO 2

Team-Mates Aid With Stick In Pounding Out Victory

The veteran hurler, "Howie" Black, took his arm out of camphor last evening and with amazing speed set down the Odd Fellows as the Edgely A. C. pounded out an easy 15-2 win over the Oddies.

Black appeared in excellent shape as his fast ball set down the Odd Fellows batters in the first inning. He allowed but three hits and until the final frame had allowed a lone bludge. Two of the three hits were of the scratch variety. Howard struck out seven batters and so good was his control that no batter had a free pass to first.

The veteran twirler—some claim that he has been pitching around these parts for over 25 years—had a shutout within his grasp until the final inning when Henny Morrell beat out a tap down the third base line and Hibbs lined out a hit, Morrell going to third and Hibbs, second on the throw-in. When Doster booted Ashby's grounder, both runners scored.

But Black did not have to work hard for the win. His mates got to Jones in the first and third innings for seven runs. Jones was ruined by two home runs. The first came in the initial frame by Wilbur VanLenten and the second in the third inning by Bill Leigh. On each occasion a runner was on base when the big blow came.

VanLenten had a fine fielding and batting night. He socked out a triple and two singles besides his four-base play and handled five hard chances without a miscue. Leigh had two more hits in addition to his home run while Stan Felkner got a double and a pair of singles.

DIAMOND NINE TAKES LEADERSHIP

The Diamond team assumed leadership of the Bristol Suburban League by registering a close 2-1 win over the Robm and Haas team last evening on the Maple Beach field. An extra inning was needed to decide the contest.

"Lefty" Keegan did the hill work for the winners and did a creditable performance, limiting the first half champs to six safe blows. Wildness on his own part and passed balls helped to score the pair of runs against him.

Opposed to Keegan on the mound was "Herm" Puma. Puma allowed the winning club but five safe bingles but received a bad break when an error permitted the Diamond team to score in the third frame.

The deciding bludge of the contest was made by Frank Balaz when he doubled Stallone home in the eighth inning to practically break up the game. The chemical workers had a slight rally in their half of the inning when Puma walked and Gallagher hit to left field. Puma attempted to make third on the play and was put out, Edgely to Russo.

It was the second defeat of the half for the first half winners, giving them an even .500 average. Diamond is undefeated in the two tilts it has played.

JEFFERIES AND SALERNO IN PITCHING DUEL

Ed Jefferies and Bill Salerno hooked up in one of those old-time pitching duels on Leedom's field last evening as the Auto Boys scored a 2-1 victory over St. Ann's A. A.

It marked the second time this season that Jefferies hurled the Auto Boys to a hill triumph over St. Ann's. For Salerno it was the best work he has done on the mound this season.

Both boys allowed but three hits and not one extra base blow was made. Salerno gave up but one free ticket to first while Jefferies gave up two passes, both coming in the fifth inning.

The defeat sent the "Saints" tumbling into the depths of the cellar and put the Auto Boys in a deadlock for third place.
